

MARINE SCIENCE KIDS MAKE IT BIG AT DEMA

Twenty kids made a difference at DEMA in a big way along with internationally renowned marine artist, Ron Steven, better known as Rogest. The students were all from the South Florida's New River Middle School of Marine Science, where marine science and environmental awareness are a part of the curriculum. The kids created 20 original dot paintings of different marine life and then the artwork was displayed at DEMA for worldwide dive community to see and enjoy. The kids sold all their work, 50 percent of the funds benefitted their school, and other 50 percent was donated to the "Be a diver" program.
